HALLOWE'EN TO BE ORDERLY

Burgess Holtzworth Issues Request for no Flour Throwing. Personal Property Must be Protected.
Offenders to be Arrested.

No flour throwing or malicious mischief will be tolerated in Gettysburg on Halloween according to orders which have been issued by Burgess Holtzworth. Harmless amusements will be allowed but such practices as running away with vehicles, carrying away gates and fences and otherwise molesting property will be quickly stopped by the police who will have instructions to make prompt arrests. The following has been issued by the Burgess:

"Tuesday evening being the time when the annual observance of Halloween is to take place the following orders are issued for the comfort and protection of the citizens of the town: There shall be no flour throwing on the streets. Persons have suffered considerable loss in the past through clothes being ruined in this way.

"The molestation of personal property will not be allowed and the police have instructions to arrest at once any one seen carrying away or otherwise removing vehicles, doorsteps, gates, fences, or anything of that nature. Harmless fun will not be interfered with."

For the past two years Burgess Holtzworth has issued proclamations forbidding the throwing of flour and it has had a wholesome effect. Clothes had been ruined in other years by the senseless practice and it was not safe for anyone to venture on the streets with good clothing. The season will be observed in Gettysburg in the usual manner. A number of social events have been planned and there will be no end to parties, and other forms of entertainment. The county, too, will have its customary fun and Tuesday night promises some lively times for the young people.

MUST FILE EXPENSES OR BE BARRED FROM OFFICE

People who are candidates for nominations or for offices and who fail to file expense accounts are probably not aware that such omission may act as a bar to them ever assuming any office until they comply with the provisions of the act of 1906, according to George D. Thorn, chief clerk of the department of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

"The act of 1906," says Mr. Thorn, "provides that an expense account must be filed and the man who does not file an account is in danger of being stopped from taking an oath of office until he does so. A man who may have been a candidate for a nomination for an office in 1908 and failed to file an expense account may be elected this Fall and yet when he comes to take the oath of office he would be in danger of being challenged. The only way out would be to file an account. The law makes no exception between successful and unsuccessful candidates."

PENMAN'S PAST SEASON

Harry H. Myers, one of the Pen pioneers, says more people have been at the mountain, the railroad and trolley have hauled more passengers and business generally has been on a larger scale than in any previous year.

Mr. Myers received a letter from his brother, George, who left Pen last week for Long Beach, Mississippi, where he has extensive business interests. He is disposing of land there in ten acre tracts for trucking purposes. The land is very productive and men who will work are able to grow many and profitable crops.

Mr. Myers helps the purchasers of these tracts build a house, buy a horse and get well started in their work.

THE DAUGHTERS TALK BUSINESS

Disapprove of Amendment which Would Make State Conference a Delegated Body. Allow New Chapters.

Taking up the matters of the most importance to the state chapters the Daughters of the American Revolution spent two busy days—Tuesday and today—in session in the Court House, the matters of most interest being the proposed changes to the constitution of the national body.

On Tuesday afternoon the Daughters voted unanimously against the proposed amendment which would make the state conference a delegated body. The measure in question would provide that delegates be sent to the annual conference instead of allowing all members to attend and to vote as at present. Further objections were voiced to the proposition of discontinuing the present system of allowing all chapter regents to go as delegates to the continental congress by having one delegate to each 100 members sent.

This, it is argued, would give the larger chapters several delegates while smaller chapters would have to combine to get a delegate and many of these would not be represented by one of their own members.

The conference voted in favor of the proposed amendment providing that in any town or city, where one or more chapters already exist, no new chapter could be formed, containing less than eight members not previously belonging to the society. Adverse action was taken to practically all the other proposed amendments.

Mrs. Thomas A. Morrison, of Smethport, the state treasurer, reported an increase of one thousand in membership during the past year. Much activity among the various chapters was shown in the report of the historian, Miss Mary I. Stille, of West Chester, who reported among other things the erection by Valley Forge chapter of a building to the memory of the unknown dead; and another in Middle Springs Park by the Berks County Chapter.

Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, of Carversville, was approved by the conference for national president and during Tuesday afternoon's session Mrs. John Miller Horton, regent of the Buffalo Chapter, was presented as a guest of the conference and made a brief speech.

Tuesday evening the Gettysburg Chapter gave a reception for the visiting Daughters at the home of President and Mrs. Granville on the college campus. The state officers, Miss Frazer, honorary state president, Mrs. John M. Horton, of Buffalo, and Mrs. Walter H. O'Neal, Gettysburg, regent were in the receiving line. The College Orchestra played and there was other music, the affair proving the most enjoyable feature of the conference week.

At this morning's session the principal matters of interest were an address on "The Relation of the Flag to the Public Schools" by Mr. Heller, of Easton, and an address by Mrs. Isabelle Ball, of Washington, on "The Prevention of the Desecration of the Flag." There was a duet by Miss Ruth Clutz and Miss Reba Miller. Rev. Henry Anstadt conducted the devotional exercises at the opening of the session.

WANT TO BE A BOROUGH

The people of Mont Alto have decided to ask the court to permit them to create their village into a borough. As this paper has told, steps have been in progress for some time looking to this end.

Recently, a committee of ten property holders was appointed by the citizens to take up the matter.

The area of the proposed borough will be about one and a half miles. The taxable valuation is $140,000. There are between 3 1/2 and 4 miles of roads in the limits.

The committee has given the matter very careful study and announce that at the present mill rate, sufficient revenue will be obtained from taxes to carry on the affairs of the borough without any increased taxation.

This means that the schools can be maintained as they are or improved, that a water system for the use of the citizens and for fire protection can be procured, that better highways can be made and that lighted streets can be given the citizens, in addition to other improvements.

EXPECTING FOUR MORE VICTORIES

Gettysburg College Foot Ball Team will Play Four More Games this Season and their Followers Expect
All to be Victories.

Only four games remain on the schedule of the Gettysburg College foot ball team and local gridiron enthusiasts are looking for a quartet of victories.

There have been remarkably few injuries during the season and Dayhoff and Black, who are now out of the game with minor troubles, are expected to be on hand for duty again on Saturday. Johns Hopkins will be the opponents then and it is confidently believed that the Gettysburgians will run away with the Marylanders with very little difficulty. Hopkins never has strong athletic teams and is specially weak on foot ball, their squad practicing only two or three times a week and then usually by artificial light. It is believed that a number of students will accompany the team on the excursion to Baltimore Saturday morning.

The next game is November 11 with Dickinson at Carlisle. The big rivals have plenty of good material this year and have shown up well, notably against the Indians whom they held to three touchdowns. Their other scores have been good and their showing at Philadelphia compared favorably with Gettysburg's for Penn in better shape than on the day Gettysburg confronted it. A special excursion has been arranged for the Dickinson game and will take its usual crowd of several hundred.

Delaware College meets Gettysburg on Nixon Field the following Saturday and will furnish an interesting contest. Delaware gave the locals a good scare two years ago scoring two touchdowns before Gettysburg got going but finally being defeated 27 to 10. Their team has been putting up a good article of foot ball this year but the orange and blue is confident to come out of the fray victorious.

And then the game with Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster on Thanksgiving Day. F. and M. has been doing nobly so far and the game will more than likely be in doubt until the final whistle. The locals put away Dickinson, Bucknell and F. and M. last year and are expected to repeat the trick with the exception of Bucknell with whom no terms could be reached, and consequently no game is scheduled.

The State and Lafayette games early in the season were lost by big scores but the team fought gamely at both places and if the next four games result favorably Gettysburg can feel that its gridiron warriors have been a credit to the institution.

FERTILIZERS WATCHED

Officials of the State Department of Agriculture has ordered suits begun for violation of the state law requiring the correct branding of fertilizers, the number being the largest inaugurated at one time in years. Two were ordered in Lancaster and two in Luzerne county and one each in York, Northumberland and Wyoming, all being based on analyses that showed the packages to contain ingredients not stated on the labels.

Later on actions will be started in other eastern counties where samples of fertilizer were taken by State agents. In all fully 1500 samples have been secured lately and every one will be analyzed. The suits are being brought by George G. Hutchinson, special agent of the department, who has been vigorously enforcing the law prohibiting the sale of adulterated cattle feeds and linseed oil.

RAISED HIS OWN SALARY

In a real battle between Carlisle's Borough Council and the Carlisle Gas and Water Company, of which latter corporation John Hays is president, a movement has been executed that almost guarantees him against any loss he might otherwise sustain by any arbitrary action council may take, and the announcement of this move on Hays' part became known publicly Tuesday causing great surprise.

With the borough's officials proposing an ordinance that, if passed, will force the Carlisle Gas and Water Company to furnish water and light free for municipal purposes, including the supply of water free to fire hydrants, comes the announcement to the councilman-directors of the Gas and Water Company that Hays has increased his salary from $1,500 to $10,000 per annum.

GLIDDENISTS REACH CORDELE

With cheering crowds lining the streets the Glidden tourists reached Cordele, Georgia on Tuesday after a successful run from Atlanta. Bright sunshine and excellent roads made the day's journey one of the best of the tour.

The noon control was at Macon, where the tourists spent a couple of hours. They were met several miles outside of Macon by 100 cars, which piloted the tourists into the city.

The Gliddenists were entertained at the Elks Club with an elaborate luncheon.

Governor Hoke Smith accompanied the tourists to Cordele and made an impromptu speech on good roads. He had intended accompanying the party to Jacksonville, but official business made his return to Atlanta necessary. Live Oak, Florida is today's control.

SATURDAY EVENING

In writing his latest farce "The Girl Who Wasn't" in which Mr. Hal Johnson will appear Saturday evening at the Wizard Theatre the author had but one object in view, and that was to create laughter; and in this he has succeeded to such an extent that the management have seen fit to issue a warning for all laugh-haters to stay home. They wouldn't enjoy "The Girl Who Wasn't" for the simple reason that it is filled with some of the most side splitting situations ever incorporated into a play. Mr. Johnson will be remembered as the young actor who appeared here last year with such success in Mr. Swartout's well known farce, "The Arrival of Kitty."

UNCLE SAM NO SANTA CLAUS

The Post Office Department will not act as Santa Claus this year. The department announced that letters addressed "To Santa Claus" and forwarded to the dead letter office will not be distributed to charitable organizations or benevolent persons. Four years ago postmasters were authorized to turn over such letters to charitable persons, but because of many abuses the order has never been renewed. Under the laws and regulations letters to Santa Claus are classed as "fictitious" and returned to the writers or destroyed.

Their Problem

MARTIN GANSVOORT

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

My niece, Molly Brice, is a great admirer of the introspective school of fiction. She is also ambitious to scribble. Young aspirants for fame in the literary field usually begin by attempting to copy the author they consider the nearest to perfection. The other day Molly brought me a story and asked me to read and criticize it. I saw at once that she had been trying to duplicate the two famous authors who inaugurated and head the introspective school. She called it "Their Problem." I agreed to read a chapter or two while she waited.

A girl sat before an open fire em-brodering. A dainty slippered toe peeped from the edge of her gown. She looked at the clock that marked the hour of seventeen minutes to 9. She was expecting a young man to visit her.

"Will he propose tonight," she asked herself, "or will he spend several more months dallying? And am I ready to give him a definite answer? What does my heart say? Valiantly I have asked the question. Is he in doubt as to his own heart, or are there practical reasons for this delay? Is he a dallyer or a trifler?"

She dropped her work in her lap, supported her temple with her fair, round hand and peered into the fire.

She had asked herself seven questions and had no answer for any one of them. Having an analytical mind, she set herself to the task of unraveling the problem of which they were a part, beginning with one that concerned her own inner consciousness. "Know thyself," said the Greek philosopher.

"If I do not know my own mind, how can I expect John to know his? Let me first determine that on which all the rest depends. Do I love him?"

"What is love? Poets have sung it, artists have painted it, but who has told us what it is?"

Here at the outset Gwendolen was balked in her queries. How could she determine whether or no she loved John when she did not know what love is? "Either I must define love," she mused, "or I shall not be ready with his answer when he comes."

She took up a box of bonbons he had sent her that afternoon, and, enclosing one of them between her forefinger and thumb—the nails were pared in pointed style—she put it between her coral lips, biting it with her white teeth. Then she sat herself to the task of defining love.

"Suppose," she said, "I make a few hypotheses as to the nature of love. Thus perhaps I may be able to select the one that nearest fits my own case."

"A man is attentive to a girl. He sends her candy and flowers. She eats the candy and inhales the delicious odor of the flowers. She considers the donor nice. He continues these trifling gifts. He pays her compliments. She comes to consider him very nice. Suddenly he ceases his attentions and bestows them on another girl. The first is furious."

"Is this a case of true love?"

"A girl goes to a matinee. The hero of the drama thrills her. She goes again and again, never contented unless looking upon his noble features, listening to the godlike sentiments he expresses in his deep melodious voice."

"He is pointed out to her on the street in checkered suit. His head is a third smaller than when on the stage. His Roman nose has become a pug. She hears him make a coarse remark. She turns away, sadder and wiser."

"Is this love?"

"A young man sees a girl at a window. She looks down upon him for a moment, and their eyes meet. A clandestine affair is the result. The girl is intended for a splendid marriage, whereas her admirer is a poor artist. She is kept a prisoner, but finds opportunity for flight and marries her artist. The depth of the passion between them has overcome all obstacles."

"This is love."

For a moment Gwendolen's eye brightened under the belief that she had solved the problem, but the next she sighed.

"How long will it last?"

There was another discouragement. No opposition had been made by her parents or any one else's to John's attentions; nothing to kindle that flame she considered necessary to true love. John was proceeding in the usual way of men who have met girls they wish to marry, sending candy, flowers, theater tickets and such gifts as are permissible for a young lady to accept.

I had read thus far when I threw down the manuscript impatiently.

"Do read on a little longer, uncle," pleaded Molly.

"What comes next?"

"What next? Why, John, he looks into his feeling too!"

"For how long?"

"For the next chapter."

"When do they solve the problem?"

"Why, at the end of the story, of course."

"How many chapters?"

"Forty-seven."

"Molly," I said, "it's beautiful. The only trouble as to my finishing it is want of time."

I may be blamed for not giving my true opinion of the story, but I doubt if I deserve it. I have no respect for criticism, my own criticisms included.

IDA LEWIS.

Famous Life Saver Dies of Apoplexy.

IDA LEWIS IS DEAD

The "Grace Darling of America" Passes Away in Newport, R. I.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 25.—Ida Lewis, the Grace Darling of America, for many years keeper of the Lime Rock lighthouse, who was stricken with apoplexy Saturday night, died last night.

In recognition of her heroic deeds she was appointed keeper of the lighthouse in 1867 by a special act of congress to succeed her father. She is the only woman who ever received this honor. It is said she saved hundreds of lives while serving in this capacity.

A batch of letters said to have been written by Miss Bromley to the prisoner were confiscated by detectives at the MacFarland house. The missives, they say, overflow with endearing epithets, of which "My dearest," "Beloved one," "My own," are some. It is said a requisition may be asked for to secure Miss Bromley as a witness.

Detectives are keeping a close watch upon MacFarland. No one save his counsel has been permitted to see him. Mr. McDermitt visited him just before departing for Philadelphia and said later that he would have a physician examine the prisoner. He would not say whether insanity would be made the defense.

It is asserted by Mr. McDermitt that Mrs. MacFarland heard of her husband's asserted relations with another woman and also that certain jewelry and silverware worth $2000 she had owned had been sold.

If the police of Newark succeed in having MacFarland, a former resident of Philadelphia, indicted by the grand jury for the murder of his wife, they will depend upon Miss Bromley to supply a motive for the crime. The police say that Mrs. MacFarland died from the effect of poison.

Developments have proved, according to the police, that MacFarland was enamored of Miss Bromley to such an extent that he was willing a long time ago to sacrifice his wife and children to wed Miss Bromley.

TO PROBE HAZING CHARGE

Naval Board to Investigate Story of Two Victims.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 25.—A board of investigation has been appointed by the naval academy authorities to sift the reported hazing last Sunday of a fourth classman by a member of the second class, for the entertainment of two girls who were in the upper classman's company at the time.

According to the stories of the alleged hazing, two fourth classmen were forced to go through a number of physical exercises and stunts by a second classman, who was showing two girl friends through Bancroft hall, the midshipmen's dormitory, on Sunday afternoon.

Academy officials denied all knowledge of the affair, and it is understood that action was taken after the newspaper accounts of the matter had been circulated.

WARNS AGAINST CRIPPEN'S FATE

Bromley Girl's Letter to Alleged Wife Slayer.

Detectives Intercept Letter Sent by Affinity to MacFarland in Newark Jail.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 25.—A letter written by Miss Florence Bromley, the Philadelphia girl, who was formerly Allison MacFarland's stenographer, to MacFarland, who is charged with the murder of his wife by giving her cyanide of potassium, which were made public by Frank A. McDermitt, the prisoner's counsel, contained the following warning from Miss Bromley:

"Dear Mac, be careful. You know what happened to Dr. Crippen."

The letter was intercepted by prosecutor's detectives, opened and read before it was handed to MacFarland. He exhibited no emotion upon its receipt. The detectives also intercepted a letter from MacFarland to Miss Bromley, of which, Mr. McDermitt says, the following is a copy:

"Dear Bunny—it is a shame, since our affairs were going so smoothly. Don't care. The worst is that we can only die. It was probably a mistake, as my wife did not know of our affairs. She may have done it purpose-ly."

A batch of letters said to have been written by Miss Bromley to the prisoner were confiscated by detectives at the MacFarland house. The missives, they say, overflow with endearing epithets, of which "My dearest," "Beloved one," "My own," are some. It is said a requisition may be asked for to secure Miss Bromley as a witness.

Detectives are keeping a close watch upon MacFarland. No one save his counsel has been permitted to see him. Mr. McDermitt visited him just before departing for Philadelphia and said later that he would have a physician examine the prisoner. He would not say whether insanity would be made the defense.

It is asserted by Mr. McDermitt that Mrs. MacFarland heard of her husband's asserted relations with another woman and also that certain jewelry and silverware worth $2000 she had owned had been sold.

DR. B. CLARK HYDE.

Faces Trial Second Time as Slayer of Colonel Swope.

HYDE AGAIN ON TRIAL

Second Hearing of Swope Poison Case Is Begun.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 25.—The second trial of Dr. B. Clark Hyde, accused of the death of Colonel Thomas E. Swope, uncle of Mrs. Hyde, from whom she inherited half a million dollars, was begun before Judge Porterfield in the criminal court.

After preliminaries were disposed of the work of selecting the jurors from an entirely new set of names in the jury wheel was begun.

It is probable that no testimony concerning cyanide of potassium will be admitted, but the state will try to show that Colonel Swope's death was caused by strychnine.

FIFTH SUIT TO BREAK UP LUMBER TRUST

Government's Action Alleges Illegal Agreement.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 25.—The government's fifth suit in its fight to break up the so-called lumber trust was begun in the United States court here.

It is directed against the following: The Northwestern Lumbermen's association, the Lumbermen's Bureau of Information, an Illinois corporation already under fire in another suit against the trust brought in Colorado; Luke W. Boyce, owner of a private detective agency at Minneapolis, Minn., charged with spying upon independent lumber dealers who are said to have violated the trade ethics laid down by the alleged trust; the Lumberman Publishing company, a Minneapolis corporation, which issues the Mississippi Valley Lumberman, a trade journal which the government charges has been the organ of the trust in that section.

As in similar suits pending against the other associations and affiliated concerns, the government alleged the lumber trade has been unreasonably restrained by illegal agreements and understandings which prevent the consumer from buying of whom and where he will; which absolutely forbid competition for trade, and which have divided the country into non-competitive territories. It is also alleged that names of lumbermen who have violated the "ethics" have been published to the trade in the Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

The bill alleges many acts in pursuance to an alleged conspiracy covering several years. The government asks injunctions restraining all the defendants from continuing the acts of which complaint is made.

THE HORSEMAN.

In order to have a horse stand while you are getting into the wagon never touch him with the whip until you are ready to go. Wheat bran and oats are what make the bones strong in a colt. Hay should never be combined with the horses' locks with a currycomb. It makes them nervous.

Colts and mares which have been on pasture all summer should be fed a little grain daily for two or three weeks before they are changed to dry feed for the winter.

If possible every horse stall should be six feet wide and nine feet long, for then the animal can turn around and lie down comfortably. The floor, too, should be nearly level. Never try to get a horse to eat more salt by mixing it with his grain. Put it before him clear and nature will tell him how much to eat.

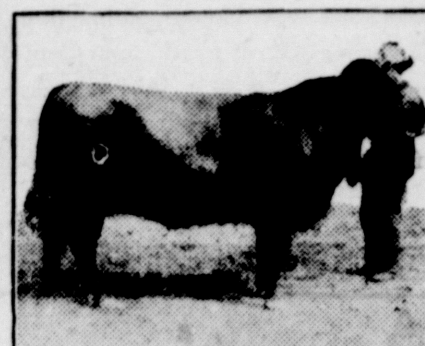

BLUE GRASS FOR BEEF.

Interesting Experiment in Feeding at the Missouri Station.

It remained for the Missouri experiment station to conduct a careful test showing what feeds could be most economically used in connection with blue grass, says Orange Judd Farmer. The work was done under the direction of Professor F. B. Mumford. The main object of the experiment was to determine how to most rapidly increase the weight of cattle during their fattening period and also how to improve the quality of the beef. Representatives of the Hereford, Shorthorn and Angus breeds were used in this test. They were good cattle and were high grades, containing from one-half to seven-eighths pure blood.

The average of the five years' work shows that where nitrogenous supplementary feeds were used with young cattle, the rate of gain was greater than when corn alone constituted the sole grain ration. This is in line with other tests of the kind and was to be expected. One explanation given by Professor Mumford is that the larger gains resulted because of the palatability of the supplementary ration, resulting in the consumption of larger quantities of feed. It was quite fully demonstrated that it is highly profitable to feed at least a limited amount of nitrogenous food during the latter stages of the feeding period, particularly to cattle that have been receiving a grain ration consisting of corn only.

The character of the food had a great deal to do with the quality of the beef, as shown by slaughter tests. It was found that where nitrogenous rations were used, the beef was of a higher character than when corn alone was fed. It was also found that more uniform and consistent gains resulted from the feeding of some nitrogenous

With many of the western breeds and fatterness the Aberdeen-Angus breed of beef cattle is a warm favorite. They are gentle and docile, adapted to early maturity, are very hardy and will withstand adverse conditions as well as other breeds. The cattle are extra good rustlers and thrive well on roughage alone. They are good breeders, and the mothers supply sufficient milk to raise their calves. The steers are second to none for the feed lot, and in looking over prize winners at various shows it will be found that the Angus are there with the woods. The Angus cow herewith pictured is an excellent type of the breed.

material. Then, too, the fatter the animal the more efficient relatively were nitrogenous feeds. The most interesting and important part of the entire test was the relation five cost of gains with the different feeds. It was not surprising, therefore, when it was found that the ration containing nitrogen invariably cost more than the ration of corn alone. Furthermore, the relative cost of each 100 pounds of gain was less from the lots receiving shelled corn than from the lots receiving rations in which nitrogen formed a part. The greater rapidity of the gain, however, the higher quality of the product more than offset this difference of cost.

Professor Mumford concludes with the statement that the results of the experiment for many years and with various kinds of cattle clearly indicate the great value of nitrogenous feeds in maintaining the appetite and in securing satisfactory gains during the latter part of the feeding period.

The Self Sucking Cow.

The nuisance of a self sucking cow can be prevented by taking a piece of tough wood about the size of a hoe handle and long enough to reach from the ring in her halter to a snarelike placed around her body just back of the fore legs. With the stick passed between her fore legs and fastened to the girth the cow cannot get her head back to her teats, but she can graze or drink water without any trouble.

Proof of Deception.

"Jones," said the bank president to his confidential secretary, "have the cashier shadowed tonight and do not let him leave the city on any pretext. I shall have his accounts examined before morning."

"Yes, sir," responded the secretary imperturbably.

"He pretends to have grown up in a country village," the president continued, "and yet I overheard him retelling the story of a ball game which occurred in this village when he was a young man, and the score was 3 to 2. Now, that proves that he was brought up in a large city and never was in a village overnight. And if he would deceive us about his youth who knows what he would do with our funds?"

"But what is there in his baseball story to show that he never lived in the country?"

"Why, baseball scores in the country are always about 50 to 18 or something like that."—Buffalo Express.

A Bad Witness.

A small Scottish boy was summoned to give evidence against his father, who was accused of making disturbances on the street. Said the magistrate to him:

"Come, my wee man, speak the truth and let us know all ye ken about this affair."

"Weel, sir," said the lad, "d'ye ken Inverness street?"

"I do, laddie," replied his worship.

"Weel, ye gang along it and turn into the square and cross the square?"

"Yes, yes," said the judge encouragingly.

"An' when ye gang across the square ye turn to the right and up into High street an' keep on up High street till ye come to a pump."

"Quite right, my lad; proceed," said his worship. "I know the old pump well."

"Weel," said the boy, with the most infantile simplicity, "ye may gang an' pump it, for ye'll no pump me."—Ideas.

Where Lucrezia Erred.

Lucrezia Borgia considered herself uncommonly expert in detecting vegetable poisons.

Having resolved upon giving a family dinner party she went out into the fields and along by the purling brook and gathered, as she supposed, enough toadstools to poison a regiment.

But, alas! Her boasted knowledge was the usual sham, and that night she fed her guests on a peck of the finest mushrooms they ever tasted.

Lucrezia waited around several days for the mortuary returns to come in and then took to her bed and died of ingrowing chagrin. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

REBELS CAPTURE A STRONGHOLD

City of Sian Goes Over With-out a Struggle.

TWO OTHER TOWNS TAKEN

Chinese Revolt Spreads East and Nan-kin is Reported as Being Near Its Fall.

Pekin, China, Oct. 25.—The city of Sian, regarded as one of the government's surest strongholds, has gone over to the rebels without a blow having been struck.

Telegraphic communication with the place has been severed. The secession of this historic refuge of the Chinese court has badly shattered the nerves of the government.

Sian, also known as Si-Ngan and Hsi-Ngan-Fu, is the capital of Shensi province, and has a population estimated at 750,000.

Minister of War General Yin Chang holds his main force still at Si-Yang-Chow. He states that the rebels have 400 guns, and he declines to move unless he is supplied with additional guns and ammunition and money with which to pay his troops. The government is making every effort to comply with these demands.

Skirmishers at the advance posts of the government troops are keeping in touch with and observing the rebels. A number of emissaries from the revolutionary camp who were attempting to sow disaffection among the loyal soldiers were arrested, and it is believed were executed.

The rebel forces are daily gaining adherents, and they are fortifying all points on the Yang-Tse-Kiang. They are maintaining order at Chang-Sha and protecting foreigners. A Japanese steamer is standing off that city ready to take foreigners on board in case of emergency.

Official reports from Anking and Wu-Hu state that the public is extremely restless. River steamers are making Kiu-Kiang their western terminus.

Kiu-Kiang, in the province of Kiang-Si, has fallen into the hands of the rebels. The government house was burned, but there were no other disturbances.

The rebels also captured Hukow, a fortified town fifteen miles east of Kiu-Kiang.

The fall of Kiu-Kiang and Hukow indicates the spread of the revolution eastward. It also interrupts communication between Shanghai and Hankow, as heretofore wireless and post messages from Hankow have been telegraphed here from Kiu-Kiang. The American ships have attempted to establish wireless communication along the river, but thus far without success. The cruiser Albany has arrived.

No news from Hankow was received, though rumors caused uneasiness. Thousands of refugees are arriving from Nankin, which is reported as likely to fall in a few days. Wu-Hu is the most western point in the direction of Hankow with which telegraphic communication is maintained.

When the rebels took Kiu-Kiang and burned the government house, it is reported that a number of officials were killed, notwithstanding the presence in the river of a number of Admiral Sah Chen Ping's gunboats. The British, German, French and Japanese warships are sheltering foreigners. Kiu-Kiang has several missionary stations.

It appears to be a question how long the revolutionary government will be able to control the mobs in the towns along the river, but foreigners appear to regard themselves as fairly safe. The Americans at Soochow, in the province of Kiang-Si, and at Poochow, in Fo-Kien province, have asked that warships be sent there.

The provinces of Shanghai, Che-Kiang and Fo-Kien are showing great unrest and, in fact, the entire south east corner of the Chinese empire he now Hankow and furthest from Manchurian influences, is rapidly becoming inflamed owing to the spread of the news of revolutionary successes in Hu-Pei province, and the inability of the government to strike a decisive blow. An unconfirmed report has it that the revolutionists have demanded that the Taotai of Shanghai surrender the native city and port to them on condition that order will be maintained.

Schwab Fails in Chinese Deal.

Pekin, Oct. 25.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, who has been negotiating with the Chinese government for the construction of warships, has been unable to conclude a contract owing to the revolution. He left for home by way of Siberia.

Mr. Mather had been confined to his residence here for several days, but the fact of his serious illness did not become generally known until his death.

ATHLETICS BAT OUT VICTORY

Defeat New York Giants in World's Series 4 to 2.

POUND MATHEWSON'S CURVES

Giants Scored Two Runs in First Inning, But Heavy Hitting Gave Athletics the Lead in Fourth, Which They Maintained.

Athletics.....	3	1	.750
New York.....	1	3	.250

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—Pounding the delivery of Christopher Mathewson in merciless fashion, the Athletics not only subdued the Giants by a score of 4 to 2 at Shibe park, but also captured their third game in the world's championship series.

After one week of idleness the teams hooked up before another crowd that taxed the capacity of the park to the extent of 24,355 paid admissions. A large majority of the spectators went wild over the victory of the Athletics, which was accomplished by plucky uphill playing after the New Yorkers had started off with a lead of two runs. These runs were scored in the first inning, when Devore singled, Doyle lined out a three-bagger and Snodgrass boomed a sacrifice fly, solving the Indian Bender with such unexpected success. The Giants and their followers hoped for victory, inasmuch as the mighty Mathewson announced before the game that he was feeling in tiptop condition. He struck out three men in the first inning, and it looked as if he was in shape to mow down Mack's big hitters to inevitable defeat. But soon the Athletics began to lace the ball with great power, some of the hits falling in safe places and others being gathered up in magnificent style by the infielders. But in the fourth inning Mathewson met his Waterloo. It mattered not whether he pitched in a straight fast ball, a curve, a drop or a fadeaway, the Athletics hammered him with a viciousness that easily showed their supremacy with the bat.

Lined Out Three Two Baggers.

Three men in a row, Frank Baker, Dan Murphy and Harry Davis, lined out corking two baggers. These crashing drives, coupled with an out and a sacrifice fly, yielded three runs and proved an advantage that the Giants never overcame. Again in the fifth inning the terrible Baker walloped another double, and Collins, who had singled a moment before, ran all the way to the plate with the fourth run.

Mathewson gamely stuck to his task, which was a hopeless one, until Manager McGraw sent Becker in to bat for him in the eighth inning.

Then New York's famous pitcher drew on a heavy sweater and sat down on the bench to ponder on his downfall. In the seven innings that he occupied the box Mathewson was hit ten times, six of the drives being for two bases. Bender, on the other hand was in superb form after the first inning, and with masterly support to help out of several tight places, he held the New Yorkers in check to the end. Witte pitched the eighth inning for the Giants and managed to wiggle out of a tight fix after some bungling work in the field.

Yesterday's game was the last one in which the players receive a share of the money. The gate receipts amounted to $40,957; the players' share was $22,117.88; each club's share was $7372.25, while the national commission's rake-off was $4095.75. The players' pool resulting from the four games amounts to $127,916.61; the winning team will divide 60 per cent of this sum, while the losers take the balance. On the figures as given above each man on the winning team will receive $3654.76 as his share of the receipts, and each man on the losing team will get $2436.50.

Not Cool Enough

To start your furnace fires and keep them going from now until April but it is too cool to be without any fire at all in the house. Our small heaters at $1.25 and $1.75 will take the chill off of any room in a very few minutes and keep it comfortable as long as you need heat. The cost of the gas for these heaters is a minor matter when compared to keeping up a furnace fire or fire in a large coal heater and it is the most economical fuel you can procure. See the heaters in the window of our store on Baltimore Street.

WATER HEATERS

Those instantaneous water heaters are the very thing for the person who wants to take a bath immediately after he rises one of these chilly mornings and doesn't care to wait fifteen minutes or a half hour for water of comfortable temperature. We will be glad to show them to you.

DROP LIGHTS

The evenings are getting longer and the thing to make home more cosy and attractive is a drop gas light. It is the one light by which reading is a pleasure and adds to the appearance of the room.

Restore Gray Hair to Natural Color

By Common Garden Sage, a Simple Remedy for Dandruff, Falling, Faded, Gray Hair.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair, but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

Get a bottle from your druggist today. Use it and see for yourself how quickly dandruff goes and gray hairs vanish. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. People's Drug Store, Special Agent for Gettysburg.

It is Curing Thousands Daily, and Saves Time and Money

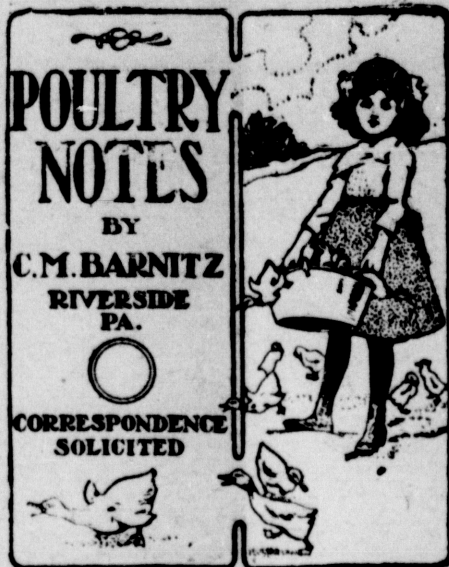

Get a bowl three quarters full of boiling water, and a towel. Pour into the water a scant teaspoonful of HYOMEI (pronounce High-o-mey). Put your head over the bowl and cover head and bowl with towel.

Breathe the vapor that arises for a few minutes, and presto! your head is as clear as a bell, and the tightness in the chest is gone.

It's a pleasant cure. You'll enjoy breathing HYOMEI. You'll feel at once its soothing, healing and beneficial effects as it passes over the inflamed and irritated membrane. 50 cents a bottle, at druggists everywhere. Ask People's Drug Store for extra bottle HYOMEI Inhalant.

An Appeal to Wives

You know the terrible affliction that comes to many homes from the result of a drinking husband or son. You know the money wasted on "Drugs" that is needed in the home to purchase food and clothing. Ours has saved thousands of drinking men. It is a home treatment and can be given secretly or taken voluntarily. Put up in two forms, powder or pill. Your money will be returned if after a trial it has failed to benefit. Costs but $1.00 a box—a mere trifle when compared with the amount a drinking man will spend in a day for liquor. Come in and get a free booklet and let us tell you of the good OBRINE is doing. Hubers Drug Store, Baltimore St., Gettysburg, Pa.

POULTRY NOTES BY C. M. BARNITZ RIVERSIDE, PA. CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED

BE AN EXPERT SPECIALIST.

You bet this would be a funny world if men had been content to be tinkers at everything and masters of nothing! But Mr. Jack of All Trades has been consigned to the fossiliferous shades. Alexander the (near) Great died sighing for more worlds to conquer. Today men weep because life's too short to conquer a square inch.

This is the microscopical age. Specialization is prime promoter of our civilization, and man himself has been carved into forty-seven sections, with a specialist to every square inch from bald top to toenail.

Mr. Rooster has not escaped, but has evolved over the barnyard fence into a profound science that taxes a coterie of national experts with a government appropriation to solve.

Poultry culture, no longer hushouse, has its university pedagogues, specialists on quacks, crows, geese, gobblers, pigeons, pheasants; its specialty breeders, specialty judges, fanciers, utilitarians, fancy flesh factories, egg experts, expert pickers, expert caponizers, expert poultry physicians and even expert fakirs.

Poultry husbandry is so broad, there are so many breeds and varieties, departments and problems and developments, that specialization is necessary to full success.

Take the breeds. It was once a little jungle fowl, running and flying along the Ganges. Its name now is legion, a myriad of breeds, varieties and colors that no man can number.

Friend, master one breed or variety to succeed.

Take eggs—225,000,000 dozen of an increase in ten years, the price and demand advancing, a market everywhere.

There's a specialty; master it. Take day old chicks.

A new development, with traffic enormous, already supplanting the egg for hatching business and bound to grow, be permanent and pay.

There's a specialty; master it. Take capons.

They are easier to raise, and the demand is increasing and they sell higher than turkey.

William H. Ellis of Crosswicks, N. J., caponizes 40,000 fowls for others per year and has made a fortune.

Master caponizing and get rich. Yes, friend, you may be shot enough to hit the target, but today you must be a sharpshooter and hit the bullseye or you will adjourn sine die.

Herrington Shows Great Form in Booting the Oval.

Coach "Hurry Up" Yost of the Michigan football team claims he has unearthed what looks to be a find in the person of Herrington, the stocky half-back, who recently showed wonderful form at drop kicking goals during practice.

The thirty and thirty-five yard lines were easy for him, and it seemed to make no difference what the angle was at which he tried.

MANY BASEBALL TEAMS REPEAT

Athletics, Rochester, and Minneapolis Are Come Backs.

WAS BANNER YEAR FOR GAME

Due to Interesting Races in Different Leagues Club Owners Made Fortunes—Few "Busted" Leagues—National Race a Good One.

The 1911 baseball season has been the most successful in the history of the national game. The number of "busted" leagues has been much less than in any previous year, and this in spite of the fact that the average salaries paid the players this year have been much in excess of those paid last season and previous seasons.

In the National league there has been the most exciting contest for the pennant in the history of that organization, New York winning out after a hard fight. Detroit set the American league "on fire" with a great record of early victories, but the Athletics after a great race won the championship.

The Eastern league race was not definitely decided until just before the finish, Rochester leading practically all the season, but in the final few weeks the Toronto and Baltimore teams were very dangerous to the leaders.

Minneapolis, strengthened by new players, made a good finish in the American association and won easily.

On the Pacific coast there is a great race on for pennant honors. Oakland, Vernon and Portland are now fighting out for first honors, with Sacramento bobbing up every now and again to upset the calculations.

The New York State league race was the closest in years, and while the Wilkesbarre Barons set a couple of new records by taking their third consecutive pennant and by leading the league from the first to last days, their supremacy was menaced until the very final week, and but for the fact that Albany and Troy proved weak road teams Bill Clymer might not now be boasting of his sixth pennant in seven seasons.

So close was the Connecticut State league season that the pennant was in doubt until the very last week, and the same can be said of the New England league.

Akron won the pennant in the Ohio Pennsylvania circuit and set a new record of four consecutive wins.

The 1910 pennant winners of the Illinois-Missouri league, the Pekin team, put on a game battle, but lost out by twelve points to Clinton.

Numerous other close races could be cited. Taken altogether, baseball has never before enjoyed the prosperity that has marked the season of 1911, and already new and greater plans are being made for 1912.
